Comparison of Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling. American Journal of Theoretical and Applied Statistics. Vol. 5, No. 1, 2016, pp. 1-4. doi: 10.11648/j.ajtas.20160501.11 Abstract: This article studied and compared the two nonprobability sampling techniques namely, Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling.

2. Convenience Sampling In every type of research, it would be superlative to use the whole population, but in most cases, it is not possible to 2 Ilker Etikan et al.: Comparison of Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling. include every subject because the population is almost finite.

Comparison of Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling

Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling are Nonprobability Sampling Techniques that a researcher uses to choose a sample of subjects/units from a population.

Different articles were reviewed to compare between Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling and it is concluded that the choice of the techniques (Convenience Sampling and Purposive Sampling) depends on the nature and type of the research.

With probability sampling, we use the randomisation distribution to draw conclusions from the sample, and to obtain sampling errors. In a quota sample, we cannot get comparable estimates of precision. In general, non-response in a quota sample is handled by selection of another respondent fitting the quota.

Probability versus Non Probability Sampling (1)

The difference between probability and non-probability sampling are discussed in detail in this article. In probability sampling, the sampler chooses the representative to be part of the sample randomly, whereas in nonprobability sampling, the subject is chosen arbitrarily, to belong to the sample by the researcher.

Convenience sampling. Convenience sampling is a type of non-probability sampling technique.

Non-probability sampling focuses on sampling techniques that are based on the judgement of the researcher [see our article Non-probability sampling to learn more about non-probability sampling]. This article explains (a) what convenience sampling is and (b) the advantages and disadvantages (limitations ...

Convenience sampling is a non-probability sampling technique where subjects are selected because of their convenient accessibility and proximity to the researcher. This article is a part of the guide:
